Toddy Tappers

Toddy is a light alcoholic drink that is collected from palm trees and tastes a bit like cider. The Maravila toddy tappers are unique and can be seen at the top of the coconut trees, where there is a thick rope tied on the trees like a network. The tapper walks on this rope from tree to tree collecting the mild extract of the coconut flower from which toddy is brewed. Jokingly it is said that it is the oldest on-line job in Sri Lanka!
